Performance

5-Year Historical View

Since December 2012, the fund has made a total return of 8.7%pa, which is favourable to its target of 6.9%pa.

Over this period, the Endowment Fund has fulfilled its primary objective of paying income semi-annually equivalent to a yield of 5.3%pa. The graph to the right shows the distribution history of the fund.

Year ended 31 December 2017

The AFSA Endowment Fund's total return for the year was 9.8%* outperforming its target of 6.9% (CPI + 5%).

Investment markets were quite stable for most of 2017 with strong returns experienced in several equity markets both here and overseas (especially the US market and Emerging Markets).

All asset classes that the fund invested in produced positive returns for the year. The fund's international investments provided the strongest returns for the year (up 20%) followed by our investments in Australian shares (up 12%). In both of these asset classes the fund outperformed its benchmarks.

The unit price opened at $1.42547 on 31 December 2016, and closed the year at $1.48897, a 4.5% increase. Semi-annual income distributions totalling 7.4c per unit over the year provided a yield of 5.3%*, bringing the total performance of the Endowment Fund for the year to 9.8%*.

Overall, this year provided very good capital growth that enables the fund's Yale style endowment model to provide for a gradual increase in distribution rates in future years subject to any significant market corrections that may occur.

Ethical Investment

Investing ethically is very important to us. It is not our policy to invest in a company that is principally involved in activities such as polluting the atmosphere; the exploitation of people; encouraging repressive regimes; or the manufacture, sale, or distribution of armaments, gambling devices, tobacco and other products that damage the health or wellbeing of people.

Outlook

The key strength of the Endowment Fund continues to be the stability of its income payments to investors, along with its deliberate and balanced investment approach.

The pie chart on the previous page shows the asset mix as at 31 December 2017. The asset mix is regularly reviewed based on advice provided by the Fund's specialist asset consultants.

The outlook for 2018 is positive due to positive economic forecasts here and overseas but markets remain uncertain with the recent sharp correction in US equities markets and the anticipated gradual rise in US interest rates. It is evident that markets have again become more volatile and accordingly a diversified and balanced asset mix provides long term investors with an appropriate level of risk.
